Directions: http://www.janssen.com/janssen/company_directions.html

Janssen is located on Route 579 - Bear Tavern Road or also called Trenton-Harbourton Road – south of Washington Crossing-Pennington Road.

Alternative Directions from PA:

Take I-95 North from Pennsylvania into New Jersey. Take the second exit (#2) which puts you on Bear Tavern Rd. (Route 579). Follow the route signs north, taking a right turn at the T-intersection (about 1 mile) and then the first left (0.25 miles further), to go over a metal trestle bridge. Janssen is up the hill to the left. Using these directions, you never leave Route 579.

From Bucks County, you can cross into New Jersey using the Washington Crossing Bridge. This puts you directly on Washington Crossing-Pennington Road.

By Train: The SEPTA R3 line can be taken from Temple or Center City Philadelphia across the Delaware to the West Trenton Station (this is a suburban station). Arrangements would have to be made to shuttle you the 3.25 miles to and from the Janssen site.

SEPTA R3 Pamphlet - http://www.septa.org/service/sched/r3n_wk.html

Parking: Enter the front gate (security tower/arm that doesn't work), make a left toward the circle in front of the buildings, and then make a right into the parking lot that has visitor spaces. The 1st and 2nd rows are visitor parking, and the rows after are employee spaces which you may also use. Please do not park in reserved spaces.
